

What are we doing?

Between now and July:

Building a brand new 320 metre platform

Between 22nd July and 7th October:

Replacing 17 kilometres of track

Installing 79 new sets of points,
55 new signals and 9 new gantries

Why we're doing this

Derby Resignalling is a £200million investment to improve the railway in and around Derby station. It is the biggest investment and improvement programme at Derby for decades and will provide better journeys for thousands of passengers every year.

Although the station itself was modernised in 2013, the current track layout has not been improved for nearly 50 years and the signalling has not been comprehensively upgraded since the 1960s. During this time, the number of passengers travelling through Derby has more than doubled.

The investment will provide:

- A new platform
- Upgraded track and signalling
- New track layout to remove the current bottlenecks which force trains to wait for a platform outside Derby station
